We need not give an epiteme of Governor HOLLIDAY'S message vetoing the REDDLE-BERGER bill. It is so short, sharp, and deve, that every man will read it for him-We must say, however, that it cuts cus blade, or the sword of SALADIN. The Soverpor manifests all due Pespect to the General Assembly as a coedinate department of the government; ed by that body in the passage of this ob-ectionable measure—a bill which, as he luly shows, is unconstitutional even in its title. When before did a Legislature ever pass a bill to which this objection day in addition to their maintenance was

The day was well chosen for a veto intended to preserve untarnished the honor of our State. "Blosted bondholders" are ere ready to invest millions in our James-River Valley railroad, just as many years ago other bloated bondholders invested over thirty millions of dollars in the internal-Improvement lines over which our legislators rode to Richmond last December. A new era of prosperity is about to dawn upon us. Let us not disgrace ourselves by repudiating an honest debt which we are not only abundantly able to pay even now, but which will in a few years be so light a burden that we shall never know it is DANIEL. upon our shoulders unless some demagogue shall remind us of its presence.

Read the message and applaud your Governor. We trust that be will hold out faithful to the end, and always keep a shot in the locker for whatever measures may be passed by this Legislature calculated to tarnish the honor or retard the prosperity of Virginia.

Judge Rives.

Judge Rives is determined to be notorious if be cannot be celebrated. He has directed that several county judges shall be tried at Lynchburg during this month for the so-called offences for which he, a judicial usurper, had them indicted in his court last year. The Supreme Court of the United States ordered bim to restore the negro murderers whom he had taken under his wing to the courts of the State. It told him-what he ought to have known, and what every lawyer fit to be a judge does know-that neither the statute which he relied upon to sustain his usurpation, nor any other law of the United States, nor the fourteenth amendment, was violated by the county judge who refused to put negroes upon the Jury which tried the REYNOLDSES. The Constitution of the United States, that court says, will no allow a man to be excluded from a jury because be is a negro; but neither does it require that a man shall be put upon a jury cause he is a negro, nor that a negro shall be tried by a jury composed partly of ne-groes. So far as this point is concerned, the decision is all that it ought to be. It allows no man to claim a mixed jury, and no man to claim to be a juror by right. In a word, the court says that no man can claim a mixed jury, and no man can be excluded

Such being the decision of the Supreme Court, what will be the result of the trials Danville Railroad Company to discharge its indebtedness to the State," the effect of which is to exchange a valid or solvent debt in Judge Rives's court of the county judges which is to exchange a valid of solvent debt for bonds depreciated on account of the poverty and necessity of the State, and to virtually present a flourishing corpora-tion with a bonus out of a meagre and of en empty treasury. Were this company the owner of the State bonds which it pro-poses to pay there might be some color of equity and justice in its petition to dis-elegace with them the debt to the State: who have been indicted therein? Nothing except the expense and annoyance. The also. The Supreme Court holds that Judge CoLES was indictable in Judge Rives's court for not performing a ministerial duty in the manner in which the Federal Constitution requires it to be performed. That is to say, if Judge CoLES violated the Federal Constitution in making up a list of jurors, it was right to indict bim for that violation in a United States court. He was not entitled to be discharged under a writ of habeas corpus. In other words, if Judge Coles is guilty of the charge made against him, he may be tried for it. But as to whether he has been guilty of any offence or not, the court of course lars; and we regard such a policy at such a time as this as in the highest degree unwise, aid not a word. But it did say to Judge Rives in the decision first above referred to that if Judge Coles has done nothing but refuse to put negroes upon a jury list, he has violated no law, nor the fourteenth amendment. If that is all that he has done he cannot be punished; but as the indictent charges bim with an offence against be may be tried for it, and that a jury must say whether he is guilty or not. That is all there is of it. Thanks to Senator THUR-MAN, no Federal marshal has now the power to pack Juries in the United States courts. It is an intelerable outrage undoubtedly to subject our State officers to the expense and trouble of a trial in those courts; but it can't be helped so long as the party of batred and malevosence is in power. However, the unbought ed not be feared. That will pronounce "Not Guilty" every county judge whom Judge Rives shall try to punish because he has been befiled in his attempt to have two or three pegro munderers brought before bis negro juries for trial.

Sir,-In a conversation with me on the 2d of February you stated that you owed the college about $3,900, of which you had the college about $3,900, of which you had drawn $2,500 from the State Bank at Richmond into the Montgomery Savings Bank; that it had been loaned out, and part of it at least could not be realized at once. You thought you had a right to transfer the funds, if you and your securities chose to take the risk. I supposed from ties chose to take the risk. I supposed from what you said, that if your successor would allow the $2,500 to remain in the Montgomery Savings Bank, it would facilitate a settlement of your accounts. &c. You made no other confession to me, nor did you ask me to carry your "defalcaon my bond until next fall. tion ' Very respectfully yours, V. E. Shepherd.

The Railroad from Keysville to Clarksville.

CLARKSVILLE, VA., March 3, 1880.

Editors Disputch: Knowing the interest think it proper to recite that a meeting of come. he subscribers to the capital stock of the Richmond and Mecklenburg Railroad Company (from Keysville to Chrksville) was held, pursuant to notice, in Clarksville on Saturday, the 21st of February. George B. Finch, of Bordton, Va., presided meeting, and Thomas Easley, of Clarks-ville, Va., was secretary.

A committee to ascertain the number of shares present in the meeting reported that seventy-four shares, or $7,400, were present either in person or by proxy. The minimum prescribed for organization by the charter of the company being fifty shares, CHURCH .- Preaching at 11 A. M. and 7:45 P. Finch of Boydton, were unanimously elected Total Control of Schaeffer Control of C directors for the ensuing year. A committee to frame by-laws for the company reported, and its report was unanimously adopted. The meeting was enthusiastic and earnest, and on all sides a hearty railroad spirit was manufested. After the stockholders' meeting had adjourned an informal meeting of the Board was held, at which it was determined to hold a business meeting in Clarksville on the 1st of March. Accordingly the Board met in Clarksville on Monday the 1st of March, the president and all the directors being present, except W. T. Carrington, Esq., of Richmond. The Board devised and adopted forms for land, labor, and materials subscriptions, and unanimously elected Major John B. McPhail, Jr., subscription agent, with directions to obtain the requisite $75,000 to be subscribed by this people within the next ninety days.

As some evidence of the zeal of our pe ple and their determination to do all in their power to build the road from Keysville to Clarksville, I state that already more than $9,000 in money has been subscribed by persons, with one exception, living in the town of Clarksville. No subscription in land has yet been taken, the forms baving not yet been printed, but it is believed that the land subscriptions will far exceed in value those made in money. No part of the propesed line of road has yet been canvassed for subscriptions except Clarksville and its immediate vicinity. As soon as Major McPinil and his assistants get into the saddle and fairly at work there can be little doubt that the $75,000 will be
